Believed to be a STELLA class yacht built by Rice and Coles at Burnham. These were built to compete with the Folkboat

What is believed to be a 32' lifeboat

LISA LAN is a Mapleleaf and built at this yard where she now languishes. She is in a poor state with two top strakes rotten and the cabin sides completely missing by the doghouse. She still has most of the interior and engine intact which shows inside that she could be a very comfortable yacht

Again, some 32' ex-admiralty launch.

TEAL is probably another Mapleleaf, but cabin has been removed. She is bored for a prop-shaft and somebody has tried to make her a quarter-decker.
